INTENSIVE

This Intensive introduces ten key concepts which Kaye believes are essential for achieving reliability in a rich, complex, real-world environment.

They are:

1. Understanding rewards (see TOPIC 1)
2. The Premack Principle
3. Motivation
4. Dealing With Your Dog (“the deal is...”)
5. The Release
6. Levels of Control
7. Stages of Training
8. Three Ways of Controlling a Dog
9. Reward-based training and “bad” behaviour (see TOPIC 4)
10. The Interpretive Factor

These concepts allow you to take motivational training to the next level. Use all the available rewards in your dog’s environment. These concepts teach you how to motivate your dog to behave well, rather than being in conflict between what you want and what the dog wants. This can be achieved in various ways. Reward-based training is not a “one size fits all”.

SEMINAR

This Seminar will take you through a list of worked examples of key training concepts, including:

- how to establish internalised default behaviours, rather than relying on management or cued (“command-based”) behaviour
- how to teach different levels of control, appropriate to different conditions in the real world
- how to use many forms of release for different purposes – and no, OK is not OK!

WORKSHOP

Troubleshooting the Basics

This Skills Workshop will give you the experience of working on the four principle pet dog training issues – the issues that are the priority for pet dog trainers around the world. You will learn about Kaye’s version of these:

1. CALMNESS AND ATTENTIVENESS
– NO MORE UNRULINESS!
2. WALKING ON A LOOSE LEAD
– NO MORE PULLING!
3. MEET AND GREET SOCIAL SKILLS
– NO MORE JUMPING UP!
4. COMING WHEN CALLED
– NO MORE SELECTIVE DEAFNESS!

Each issue will be taught by use of a whole list of specific exercises, which incorporate the key concepts introduced in the Intensive and Seminar.

HANDS-ON COURSE

Handle your dog (or a colleague’s dog) in an 8-week Practical Basics and Social Skills course.

This Course will incorporate Kaye’s ten key concepts, allowing you to instruct or train in a robust way, applying the standard exercises to the aim of making your dog acceptable at home and in the community.

You will have an opportunity to adapt your standard ways of teaching the basics to reflect the key concepts, and to practice instructing in these new skills.
